About The ACLU Freedom Files: Beginning on September 8, 2005 at 8 PM EDT on Link TV on satellite, Zilo TV on certain college campuses, and online, the American Civil Liberties Union and award winning producer/director, Robert Greenwald's Brave New Films (Outfoxed, Uncovered: The Iraq War) presents us with the first program in a new 10-part series entitled the The ACLU Freedom Files. The series, starting with the first episode, Beyond the Patriot Act, is aimed at telling the stories behind the headlines by addressing the critical civil rights issues of today. The series will star real clients and the attorneys who defend them, and air on the 2nd Thursday of the month. Future topics include gay and lesbian rights, drug policy, women's rights and racial profiling. For more information or to order a DVD, visit www.aclu.tv.

STAY INFORMED! Keep up to date on the pending vote in the Senate and House to expand the Patriot Act or even make it permanent after Labor Day. Visit www.ReformThePatriotAct.org.
